TRAUMA STUDIES AND TREATMENT
COMMITTEE PRESENTS:
THE DIALOGUE SERIES
WINTER 2017 – SPRING 2017

We are pleased to remind you about our Winter 2016 - Spring 2017 series of presentations and dialogues, inviting those of us interested in trauma to participate and lend our minds to various subjects. We will focus on various components or traumatic loss, both from an individual and collective perspective, from a clinical and societal/environmental one, and with respect to present as well as historic influences. Implications for healing and recovery will be explored.

Here's the line-up:

January 20, 2017 - "Ambiguous Loss and Unresolved Grief: Finding Resolution" –
Gwenn A. Nusbaum, LCSW

February 24, 2017 - "Dimensions of Loss in the Aftermath of Disaster: From Tragedy in Orlando to Anniversary Experiences" - Madelyn Miller, Ph.D.

March 24, 2017 - "Transgenerational Transmission of Loss as an Accompaniment to Historical Trauma" - Madelyn Miller, Ph.D.

April 24, 2017 - "Environmental Melancholia: Trauma and Dissociation in Engaging with Climate Change and Other Losses" - Gwenn A. Nusbaum, LCSW

May 19, 2017 - To Be Announced

As before, all meetings will be held on Fridays: 6:15-7:45 pm

Location: National Psychological Association for Psychoanalysis
40 West 13th Street (Btwn 5th and 6th Ave) Buzzer #216
New York, NY
